SHORT TERM PLANNING SUPERINTENDENT

The Company

Ensham Resources is an independently owned coal mining company that manages a major open cut coal mine located 40km east of Emerald in the Bowen Basin. The current open cut mine operates multiple draglines along with truck and excavators to produce approximately 6 Mtpa of coal.

Further expansion of this highly successful and resilient enterprise is already underway through the construction and integration of an initial 2 Mtpa (bord and pillar) underground operation. Total annual production will be around 7 million tonnes per year.

We pride ourselves on providing a safe workplace with a good work/life balance and a positive, team atmosphere, where your contribution is appreciated.

The Job

Reporting to the Manager Mining you will be responsible for the following:

- Lead the short term planning group to assist and support the Operational Superintendents with the implementation of detail design plans for the dragline, pre-strip and mining operations
- Develop short term production schedules to support the detail design plans
- Communicate detail design plans and associated schedules to operation's superintendents and customers
- Monitor performance against planned outcomes through reconciliations of actual against planned
- Assist with the continuous improvement of the planning processes to give cost effective and improved mining methods
 - Identify risks and modify design plans and sequences to ensure safe work areas
 - Mentor, coach and train the short term planning group

The Person

To be considered a suitable candidate for this position you will have the following experience or background:

- A minimum of five years' experience in open cut mine planning
- A passion and desire to coach and mentor less experienced engineering professionals
- Technical proficiency in an earth moving or open cut and/or underground mining environment
- Excellent communication skills
- Ability to effectively use mine planning software and cascade annual plans into quarterly, monthly and weekly schedules
- Tertiary qualifications in engineering or similar highly regarded

We offer attractive remuneration and benefits, a 5 and 2 roster with flexibility around residential and commute arrangements. Financial assistance is offered to encourage you to live in the prosperous township of Emerald. However, should you wish to reside elsewhere, Ensham provides fly in/out, drive in/out options.
